

The University of London - LLB - Law Programme

LLB - Law Programme

The University of London is one of the world's leading academic institutions. The University of London External System is the oldest distance learning programme in the world - its degree has been accessible to students worldwide since 1858. Today, it has over 40,000 students in more than 180 countries studying 100 different courses.

In a world where degree providers are proliferating, the University of London LLB offers the security of an internationally recognised 'gold standard' established for over 100 years. The University of London was the first to offer a degree in English Law, in the 1890s. Upon graduation you will be joining a distinguished group of solicitors, barristers and judges around the world who began their careers by obtaining their law degree through the External System. The academic direction of the LLB and Diploma in Law is provided by a Consortium of outstanding University of London Schools: Birkbeck, King's, LSE, Queen Mary, SOAS and UCL.

The UOL LLB External Programme (3+0) is the only external law degree awarded by a British University that is recognised by the Legal Profession Qualifying Board of Malaysia for entry into the CLP examinations. Brickfields Asia College has an excellent track record on the University of London LLB examinations. The college has an outstanding faculty of experienced and dedicated lecturers comprising both local and visiting lecturers/examiners on the University of London programme who do substantial teaching at the BAC.
